Tall ships return to Everett in August

History will come alive in Everett this May as the tall ships Lady Washington and Hawaiian Chieftain make their return trip to Port of Everett. The tall ships, part of the Aberdeen-based non-profit Grays Harbor Historical Seaport, sail the waters of the Pacific each year offering educational programs, free deck tours, and sailing excursions.

From August 9-14, Lady Washington and Hawaiian Chieftain will be docked at the Port of Everett, 1726 W. Marine View Dr.

On weekends the tall ships are open to the general public for ticketed Battle Sail, and Evening Sail events. For the seasickness-prone but curious, stationary dockside Vessel Tours are available Friday - Sunday for a $5 suggested donation. The boats can also be Chartered for private events including weddings and workplace team builders.

Launched in 1989 in Aberdeen, Lady Washington is the official ambassador of the state of Washington and a replica of the original vessel of the same name, which was the first American ship to make landfall on the West Coast. The steel hulled Hawaiian Chieftain was launched in 1988 in Lahaina, Hawaii. Together, they are among the most active tall ships in America, visiting approximately 40 ports each year. The tall ships offer a glimpse into our historic past, introducing people of all ages to the sights and sounds of 18th and 19th century maritime life.
